SENATOR JACKSON made his debut upon the Memphis political stage last night before a large and intelligent audience, and under the suspices and support of many wellknown and highly esteemed citizens who believe with him in the sixty-and-six settlement. He spoke in a plain, blunt way, and addressed himself mainly to the State debt. We have only time and space to-night The "Times" on the Folger Nomination to notice what he doubtless deems his two strongest points-the discrimination made by the Demo er stie party between certain classes of bonds and the difference in the amount offered in settlement by the Bolters and the Democrats, Senator Jackson is now convinced that the State will be distronored unless the bondholders get slixty and six. Last June, when the Democratic Convention was in session, he was clamorous for fifty-and-four, which he was then quite convinced would satisfy the bondholder and maintain the houor and credit of the State. Senator Jackson slid not tell his suditors last night why he thus changed so suddenly and so radically. He also failed to explain why in a letter, from the privacy of his closet at Jackson, he wrote to Governor Marks congratulating his inaugural address. The senator was not then launched into political life. He was the Convention adjourned until 2 o'clock this afternoon. then issuached into political life. He was yet in the ranks of the people and, guided by his superior technical ability as a lawyer, was able to appreciate the orderly and sequential arrangement of the State debt which Governor Marks made. Among the inquiring customers were two society ladies who contributed $210,000 esch to a pool, out of which they realized $80,000, all soid to have been left in the hands of the firm for future contemplated speculations on a large scale. An up-town grocery merchant and several prominent lawyers are said to have left each abou $10,000 in the vault of the firm before the members disappeared. A large number of people deposited from $10,000 to $30,000 to missing brokers as margins. Neither of the firm have been seen since the 11th in stant. It is stated that the sheriff seized what effects that could be found.
